

Press Release: HBSF Quail Hunt Fundraiser at Greystone Castle

The Higgins Branchini Shooting Foundation (HBSF) hosted their annual Quail Hunt Fundraiser at Greystone Castle Sporting Club in Mingus, Texas, November 15-17, 2019.

The fundraiser had been held at Long Straw Ranch the last seven years, but interest in the event had grown to such a level that a larger venue was required.

Greystone is a 6,000 acre hunting and sporting clay facility with the ability to offer 25 overnight rooms in 5 private lodges. In addition, they offer excellent dining and meeting facilities. HBSF is delighted to have found a new home for our annual fundraiser, and the success of this year's fundraiser validated our confidence in this outstanding venue.

31 hunters participated in the event. Many of them were joined by spouses and overnights in the lodges, enjoying the fabulous breakfast, lunch and dinner service. Many new friends were made and, by all accounts, everyone had a very enjoyable time.

The hunting and sporting clay experiences were exceptional, with excellent guide and dog work. The Greystone staff could not have been better, catering to virtually every need throughout the event. On top of all this, because of Greystone's size, there is room to grow the annual event. Over the entire Friday - Sunday period, Greystone could have accommodated 90 participants. So, HBSF is looking forward to continued growth for the fundraiser.

As always, HBSF had great support from Lone Star Ag Credit and from Park Cities Quail Coalition. Their enthusiastic assistance – as well as that of our silent auction item donors – was instrumental to the success of this year's fundraiser. Owing to the Park Cities Quail Coalition support, we were able to invite 3 collegiate clay target competitors to come join us at no cost to them. In addition, Clay Shooters Supply provided wonderful Cape Buffalo Shell Pouches for each participant, courtesy of a grant from John Calandro.

The Foundation is deeply grateful to the many donors, partners, and participants who contributed so generously and selflessly toward the success of the 2019 fundraiser!
